HOCKIN DELIVERS WRITTEN RECORDS

Surrenders Books and Papers of Iron Workers.

TAKEN TO FEDERAL BUILDING

Negotiations with Him Are Put Through Without Knowledge of U. S. District Attorney, Who Makes No Promises.

Indianapolis, Dec. 12.—H. S. Hockin, with representatives of the Erectors' association, has delivered to the United States authorities books and papers of the Iron Workers' organization that were overlooked when the building was searched soon after John J. McNamara's arrest.

It is believed that the surrender was made in pursuance of an arrangement that guarantees Hockin immunity from arrest. The United States district attorney says he has made no deal with Hockin, but there is reason to believe that others have promised immunity if Hockin tells all he knows.

The books and papers were removed secretly Saturday night from the Iron Workers' offices in the Central Life building and were taken in taxis to the federal building. United States Marshal Schmidt was present when the records were taken from the vault and placed in the taxicabs.

It has developed that the negotiations which have been made with Hockin were without knowledge of the United States district attorney. This was done because the district attorney throughout the case has shown no disposition to lend a kindly ear to any suggestions of immunity to anyone. With this attitude of the district attorney known, negotiations were handled with the iron workers' official in a way that would keep the district attorney absolutely free from any suggestion that "immunity" or "light penalties" would be granted.

A search is being made for Harry Underwood, the iron worker who made affidavit that he placed the explosive under the new French Lick hotel after the visit of Hockin to French Lick, at which time he is declared to have threatened trouble if union labor were not substituted for the nonunion men employed on the building. He said that he once knew an iron worker named Underwood, but he did not remember his first name. It seems that Underwood belonged to a Louisville union, but after his arrest at French Lick and confession to Detective Morgan he fled the country and no one seems to know where he now is.

Detective Burns reached here and will remain for several days to assist in the federal grand jury investigation.

BIG FIRE ON CONEY ISLAND

Luna Park Suffers Loss of $150,000, but Is Not Wholly Destroyed.

New York, Dec. 12.—So brisk a fire ate into the side of Luna Park that it seemed for a while that Coney Island, which lost a good part of itself at the Dreamland fire last spring, was done for. But this time the high pressure service did its full duty and Luna Park got off with a bad scorching.

Fred Thompson, the creator of Luna Park and head of the Luna Park company, put the loss at $150,000. He placed the estimate so high because the scenery of five plays, three of which were due for production in the next few weeks, was burned up.

ATTACKS THE EDDY WILL

Christian Science Founder's Adopted Son May Combat Bequests.

Concord, N. H., Dec. 12.—A decision affirming the right of Ebenezer J. Foster-Eddy of Montpelier, Vt., adopted son of Mary Baker Eddy, to bring action to set aside certain large bequests to the Christian Science church in the will of Mrs. Eddy, has been handed down by Judge Edgar Aldrich of the United States circuit court.

The decision overrules an interlocutory motion filed by Henry M. Baker, executor of the will, and other defendants.

A GOOD TALK TO PARENTS ABOUT BOYS

Another number on the Normal Lecture course that afforded pleasing and helpful entertainment for an intensely interested audience and added much credit to the already commendable selections that have been made this year by the managers of the course, was the lecture delivered Monday evening in Normal Hall by Bishop Edwin H. Hughes. His careful study of humanity and most particularly the various periods of the man's life were obviously pronounced in his thought arousing statements and clear cut descriptive references.

He developed three points relative to the life of a boy. They were unconsciousness, self-consciousness and man-consciousness. Each subject covered a period in the boy's life and each afforded numerous interesting as well as frequent pitiful instances which mean much to the boy but are generally considered lightly by his elders and the public in general.

The first, the unconscious period, as Mr. Hughes puts it, deals with the first years of the young man's life when he moves without consideration as to the cause. "This period," he said, "is the boy's childhood and foundation stone, and the man who takes it from him by forcing him to work or by other methods, is the worst kind of a thief." In following up this thought Mr. Hughes entered a splendid plea for the abolition of child labor and the cooperation of every American citizen in bringing about the enforcement of laws that will terminate the terrible child labor evil, which today effects and infringes upon the future of 2,000,000 boys in the United States.

The second period in the boy's life is marked by awkwardness, the year or more that he has no place for his hands or his feet and finds no place in society, when his person is the foremost subject for his thought and when he imagines everyone is looking at him alone and every eye is a critical one. "It is at this time that the boy needs sympathetic council," said Mr. Hughes, "someone to say a cheering work that will relieve his mind for even a few minutes of the heavy burden of self-consciousness that he is bearing."

The third period commences with the sudden revelation of the boy that he is a man. Mr. Hughes gave several interesting signs of this period, for example, "When the high water mark voluntarily disappears from around the neck of the boy and on which so much time has been expended by the watchful parents in an effort toward cleanliness and when blacking is applied to not only the toes of the shoes alone, but to the heels as well, then it is," says Mr. Hughes, "that the man conscious period is commenced."

And after treating this period briefly he referred to still another, the God conscious period and expressed his desire for a movement bringing more men into the Christian life.

The lecture was closed with a fitting poem and Mr. Hughes was loudly applauded in way of appreciation, by his attentive admirers.

JUROR IN HYDE TRIAL ESCAPES

Climbs through Transom to Aid Starving Family.

LABOR OF WEEKS IS UNDONE

Second Trial of Kansas City Man Accused of Murdering Swope Halted In Unusual Manner—Judge May Discharge Jury.

Kansas City, Mo., Dec 12.—Judge Porterfield announced that if Harry Waldron, the missing juror, is not found by tonight, he will discharge the entire jury in the trial of Dr. B. Clark Hyde, accused of the murder of Colonel Thomas H. Swope.

The Hyde trial was interrupted in a dramatic manner almost unprecedented in the history of American courts. Juror Waldron escaped through a transom in the Centropolis hotel during the night and has disappeared. His family has been in want for some time, it is said.

Prosecutor Conkling was on hand at the opening of court prepared to read to the jury testimony given by Dr. Hyde at the first trial. The reading of the physician's story was begun on Saturday.

The most interesting part of the accused man's testimony was to have been reached during the day—his attempts to explain his cyanide purchases. He had used the drug for years, he said, but to the prosecutor's frequently repeated request that he name one more drug store than Hugo Breckelin's at which he had bought the drug, there came the same reply—he could not remember. This line of questioning at the former trial lasted for more than five hours.

It was at Breckelin's store that Dr. Hyde bought cyanide capsules, while he occurrences in the Swope home were taking place. That was the first time he had ever bought any there. He had always maintained that he purchased the drug for two innocent purposes—the killing of bugs and for cleaning nitrate of silver from the fingers.

The defense made frequent objection to the reading of the testimony on the ground that it contained many repetitions. They were generally overruled by Judge Porterfield, he holding that the entire testimony relating to the cyanide was competent.

MINUTES ARE ADOPTED BY ST. LUKE MEMBERS

The rector and vestry of St. Luke's church, at a meeting held Sunday evening, adopted unanimously the following minutes:

The departure to the other home of our dear friend and associate, Daniel Lace Quirk, has brought upon us a sense of great personal loss. His long and generous and unfailing interest in St. Luke's, his fine and sympathic recognition of the Church's place and work in the community, his loyalty to the best things making for the wholesome advancement of the communitie's life,his high standard of honor in all his long career, his unblemished integrity, his rare friendship, his delicate and wholesome humor, his trained consideration for the poor and for the man hard pressed in the struggle:—for these notable qualities manifested in the long and honorable life of our dear friend, we give God thanks and record in this minute our own devotion and love for his memory.

We desire to convey our loving sympathy to the partner and companion of all his joys and sorrows, his helpmate in all his enterprises and undertakings. And we pray God that the example of such a life may abide with us, both as a stimulus and encouragement in the furtherance of every good word and work.

FELLOWSHIP IS ORGANIZED AT COLLEGE

The organization of the Cleary Fellowship—a project which has gained the enthusiastic interest of the students at Cleary College—was practically perfected Sunday afternoon at a meeting held at the college edifice. Its duplex mission of promoting following among the students both while in Ypsilanti and when scattered to distant points, and of encouraging high ideals of scholarship, morality and citizenship in the student body will constitute one of the most strongly emphasized features in the constitution presently to be drafted. Every point of the constitution and the by-laws was thoughtfully and exhaustively considered Sunday afternoon.

It was decided that the membership should include the students at present regularly enrolled in the college, the members of the faculty and former students. The fee is to be fifty cents.

Miss Genevieve Allen of Peck, Michigan, occupied the chair and was instructed by the meeting to appoint a committee of three to draft the constitution; a committee of three to make nomination of officers, consisting of president, first and second vice-presidents, secretary and treasurer; and an executive committee of five. The executive committee will appoint a membership committee of three, a social committee of three and a church committee of two to represent each denomination in the city.

On Friday evening, December 15, there will be another meeting, at which these committees will severally report. This business will occupy the first half of the evening, and a social hour under the apspices (for the first time) of the Fellowship will occupy the latter part of the evening.

The Fellowship contemplates establishing branch organizations of the association in other cities, that Cleary students when in college and outside of it may feel a bond uniting them to one another and to the institution. This big Fellowship will meet in Ypsilanti to elect officers and transact other business every January and it is proposed to have an annual banquet.

One of the important matters to be accomplished locally by the Fellowship is to arrange for social evenings every Friday at the college building. Every fourth Friday will be absorbed by the Fellowship; the other Fridays will be open to all students and will be likewise under the control and direction of the Fellowship.

This movement promises to be one of potent significance in the annals of the college and will give the loyal alumni everywhere an opportunity to make their expression of appreciation more concrete.

RURAL NIGHT PROWLERS

SHOOTING ON KELLY FARM AROUSES SUSPICION THAT THIEVES WERE THERE.

Night prowlers caused some excitement at the home of C. J. Kelley, who resides on a farm near the city, on Sunday evening about ten o'clock. Mr Kelley and daughters were at home at the time and were reading in the dining room when their attention was attracted by the barking of the dog in the barn. They paid little heed, however, until the dog came out of the cellar and four shots were fired by someone in the darkness. Miss Amede Kelley, one of the daughters, threw open the door and called out "You needn't shoot the dog" whereupon two more shots were fired by the intruders who were then making their way down the road, the dog at their heels.

An investigation in the morning showed the prints of footsteps of two people about the house and barn. Nothing as yet has been missed and it is not known just what the object in view was, but it was probably thieving. No arrests have been made.

In the replevin case of Miss Edna Durkin vs. Claud Warboy this morning at Justice Stadtmiller's office the plaintiff was awarded judgment for damages and the costs of $2.

Miss Durkin who is adjutant of the Salvation Army in this city, claimed 62 chairs which were purchased from Mack and Mack for the Salvation Army Hall. There was a balance of 5.50 still due on the payment and for this reason Mack and Mack would not allow them to be moved till the balance was forthcoming. Claud Warboy paid the balance and Edna Durkin paid Warboy. Warboy then refused to give up the chairs claiming that Edna Durkin owed him for board.

CITY SAVES MUCH BY OWNING WATER SYSTEM

ARTICLE BY PROF. LATHERS SHOWS THIS FACT AND POINTS OUT OPPORTUNITY FOR BIG SAVING IN SUPPLY OF GAS

CITY OWNERSHIP THE RIGHT POLICY

City Control Has Many Advantages Over Dealings With Private Concerns, Says Writer-Way Is Opened Now For Big Economy Movement

In my last two articles I showed that the water system of Ypsilanti is worth to the water consumers and to the city probably $20,000 each year. But we have derived other benefits quite as important which cannot well be measured in dollars and cents.

First of all in the matter of public health as affected by the quality of the water. In our city the quality of the water has been excellent and uniform. It contains it is true a rather large percentage of lime and a certain amount of iron held in a very delicate chemical balance so that it leaves a reddish deposit in all receptacles and pipes. This is true of all the deep wells in this region I understand. But the water has always been pure, healthful and entirely free from disease germs. Many cities have had a very sad experience in this respect. Perhaps in a matter of this hort it is hardly wise to mention names for a city is very sensitive regarding its reputation for health. But many of my readers will remember a college town in another state which was deserted by a large number of its students because of an outbreak of typhoid caused by drinking water furnished by a private water company. I have in mind another town which has several times been warned that it was unsafe to drink the water because of typhoid fever germs, and where the council recently passed a resolution declaring that there was "very much dissatisfaction among the people with the quantity of the water." In some cases of this sort the presence of disease germs is ascribed to carelessness, in other cases it is charged that water from a convenient river or stream is let in because it is cheaper than pumping it from deep wells. Whatever the reason may be it is clear that a city plant is more likely to be run with regard to the city's health than a private plant whose reason for being is to make money.

In the second place we have had much better fire protection than we would have been likely to receive with a private plant. A private plant naturally extends its mains only where it believes that the sale of water will be great enough to make a profitable return. The city on the other hand extends the mains for the public good. The city of Duluth declared that before taking over the water and gas plants for municipal operation the growth of the city was hampered and inadequate fire protection offered because of the unwillingness of the private companies to extend their mains. After fire had destroyed the flour mills and cooperage shops in Ann Arbor, throwing a considerable number of men out of employment, the owner of the mills claimed that they would have been saved with satisfactory water service and the city government has stated that there is a dissatisfaction with the fire protection furnished. There has never been criticism of that sort here so far as I have heard. This city extended its mains clear out to the Peninsular Paper Mills not because there were enough consumers to make it profitable but in order to protect itself against the loss of an important industry by fire.

In addition to this the public water system has kept a private water company out of politics. Where a public service corporation is very likely to e a disturbing factor. In nearly every city that has a private water company there is friction and many times lawsuits between the city and the company. The company is very likely to feel that it is necessary to keep men in the council who favor the company and they sometimes oppose an able man because they fear that he may be hostile. In their legal business they often make it a point to employ a lawyer who has a large political effect upon the city's affairs. Again and again cities have found their private water companies a disturbing and demoralizing influence in public affairs. It used to be though that there was danger of corruption in public ownership but people are coming to see that n respect to public utilities of this sort there is more danger in private ownership. No one ever hears of our water plant getting into politics but in cities that have a private plant there is hardly ever a time when the water question is out of politics.

Last of all and least tangible, though not, I believe, least important, is a point raised last summer by Professor Strong in a letter to your paper, that is: the education of the people by placing responsibility upon them. Gradually the voters of this city are learning how to manage their public business. They are learning o think these things out for themselves and to keep a proper watch over their public servants and in a government such as ours this is a matter of the greatest importance.

I wish to say that in writing these articles I have no feeling of hostility and no desire to speak harshly of any one. I have spoken particularly of the Ann Arbor water system because of its proximity and similarity of position o our own. I know personally some of the men connected with the Ann Arbor Water company and know them to be fine men looking out for their own

Extra Story On Concrete Building In Indianapolis said To Have Caused The Collapse; 8 Killed And 19 Injured

RUINS OF PRESTOLITE BUILDING

Indianapolis, Dec. 12.—The coroner will make a rigid investigation into the collapse of the Prestolite building, in which eight persons were killed and nineteen were injured, several of them so badly that they will be cripples for life. It has been learned that the permit for the building was issued for a two story structure and that the plans were examined and approved by the building inspector in that theory. A third story had been put on, and the extra weight caused the collapse.

THE PEOPLE OF YPSILANTI CANNOT AFFORD TO GRANT ANY GAS COMPANY ANY FRANCHISE IT WILL ACCEPT.

THE PEOPLE SHOULD OWN AND OPERATE THE GAS BUSINESS FOR THEIR OWN PERPETUAL BENEFIT, AND NOT PERMIT A NON-RESIDENT PRIVATE CORPORATION, FOR REVENUE ONLY, TO TRAFFIC IN THEIR NECESSITIES.

WOULD WOMEN PERMIT THIS FOR MEN?

It is charged and not denied, so far as we have seen, that women in Detroit make overalls for sixty cents a dozen—five cents apiece; and in Chicago do all the work of making white shirts, except the cutting, for seventy five cents a dozen and all the sewing on boys' pants for sixteen cents a dozen. And men alone are responsible for the laws which permit this.

We wonder, if women alone were responsible for all existing laws and men could not vote, whether men would be permitted to get along on such a wage scale as this. We are inclined to think not, because there is more heart and sentiment in the make-up of woman.

The existence of such conditions as these argues the necessity of more heart and soul and human sentiment in American politics. For the man-made law of the land to produce and permit such injustice as this and couple with it a denial to women of any voice in modifying such conditions at the polls, is adding insult to injury and injustice.

We would respectfully ask the man who objects to granting his wife and mother and sister the same franchise rights that he enjoys and helps circulate the slander that the "women who seek the franchise want to wear the pants" whether he doesn't feel a little cheap in those overalls which some worthy woman made for him for what he wastes in a single cigar?

We are still waiting for a decent reason why women should not be allowed the same franchise rights as men.

YPSILANTI TOWNSHIP

Ypsilanti Township, Dec. 11.—An entertainment by the Rawsonville Helping Hand society at the church hall in Rawsonville, which included an apron sale, a country grocery, a bountiful supper, a fine literary program was generously patronized by the public. Considerably over one hundred filled the hall as in 'ye olden time. Over $52 was realized, making it a financial success. The program was as follows:

Recitation, "Betsey and I are out," and the sequel, Mrs. Will Anderson.
Duet, "In Summertime," Miss Mary Rust and Miss Georgia Thumm.
Dialogue, "Auntie Peleg's visit to the opera," Mrs. Thumm and Miss Taber.
Trio, "The Sailor's Dream, Mrs. Jas Owen, Mrs. Corkins, Miss Rust.
Dialogue, "American Homes," Freo Minard, Mrs. Owen, Floyd Anderson J. D. Rust, Wilmer Corkins, F. Thumm, Ben Owen.
Song, "It's a long way back to 'Home Sweet Home,'" Irene Owen.
Tableau, "Old Father Time and the New Year," with song accompaniment. Ben Owen, Miss Maud Cook.
Recitation, "The bald-headed man," Miss Zelma Walters.
Recitation, "The Ladies' Aid," Mr. Walters.

The trio was encored and responded with "The Donkey." The entire program was excellent, showing dramatic skill, excellent taste in selections and presentatins, musical ability and a power to entertain and hold a large audience in a crowded house.

The Ladies Helping Hand society of Rawsonville will meet next with Mrs. David Campbell, Thursday, December 14. Dinner will be served at noon and election of officers will follow.

Mrs. Mary Gotts is making an extended stay with her daughter, Mrs. Jacob Horn, near Belleville.

Among the guests from Ypsilanti who attended the Ladies' Helping Hand society fair were Mr. and Mrs. Everett Wiard, Mr. and Mrs. DeWitt, Mr. and Mrs. Archie C. Freeman, Misses Julia Rust and Edna Mills. Belleville was itself very largely represented.

Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Voorhees entertained all of their children and their families to a roast turkey dinner Thanksgiving day. Covers were laid for thirteen. The day was a most enjoyable one for every member of their immediate family was present. It was also a notable one from the fact that this will be the last Thanksgiving in the old home. Having sold their old homestead, they will at once take up their residence in Ypsilanti, a proceeding which had been planned for an earlier date, but delayed in order that this last Thanksgiving dinner might be enjoyed first.

Mrs. A. L. Voorhees is very sick with pneumonia at her home in Detroit. She was taken very suddenly after returning from having spent Thanksgiving in this vicinity.

Mrs. Edna Mills of Ypsilanti was the guest of Miss Gertrude Tabor Wednesday, staying over to attend the fair. Miss Tabor accompanied her guest home for a short visit.

CITY SAVES MUCH

interest just as you or I would do in their position. The point I have tried to make is that it is a business matter and that we have done much better to own our own plant than we would have done in giving a private company an exclusive thirty-year franchise.

As to the gas question I believe we have no reason to find fault with the Ypsilanti Gas company. In the past they have set a high standard for the public service corporation. The manager has always been courteous and accommodating. The owners are business men who have made large profits under the old franchise which they had a perfect right to do. I believe also their statement that we are getting gas as cheap as our neighboring cities. But we are getting water much cheaper than our neighboring cities and if this city can make better arrangements for the next thirty years than those proposed by the Gas company we certainly should not pass this franchise.

I have given some of my spare moments lately to a study of this question and I am convinced first that we cannot afford to give any franchise, and second, if we do give a franchise we should not grant the one proposed by the Gas company as it is a very bad one for the city and a very good one for the company. If it shall seem desirable I may at some later time write out my reasons bearing directly upon this question.

Sincerely,
J. STUART LATHERS.

Their action controls your health. Read what Foley Kidney Pills have done for your neighbor. Mrs. W. H. Taylor, Ann Arbor, Mich., says, "I had a case of kidney trouble that caused me much worry and pain. I was troubled with severe backache and shooting pains in the sides and at times I felt as tired early in the morning as if I had done a hard day's work. Foley Kidney Pills were brought to my notice and I began taking them. After a short time I felt entirely relieved of the backache, the side pains left me and I have never experienced that tired feeling in the morning or any other time. Foley Kidney Pills cured me and I shall always recommend them highly." Weinmann-Matthews Co.

THE TRUE TEST

Tried in Ypsilanti, it has Stood the Test.

The hardest test is the test of time, and Doan's Kidney Pills have stood it well in Ypsilanti. Kidney sufferers can hardly ask for stronger proof than the following:

A. D. Moore, 314 Oak St., Ypsilanti, Mich., says: "Doan's Kidney Pills are certainly a splendid kidney medicine and I do not hesitate one moment in recommending them. Pain in my back gave me considerable trouble and the secretions from my kidneys were irregular in passage. Doan's Kidney Pills, procured at Weinmann-Matthews Co.'s drug store, corrected these troubles. Whoever calls upon me to learn about Doan's Kidney Pills will always hear me speak highly of them." (Statement given Dec. 19, 1908.)

A Later Endorsement.

Mr. Moore was interviewed on September 20, 1911, and he said: "I can recommend Doan's Kidney Pills just as highly as I did in 1908, for I have taken them occasionally since then and they have always proved satisfactory. I give this statement for the benefit of other kidney sufferers."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50c. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

INVESTIGATES DEATH OF FOUR

Michigan Prosecutor Will Exhume Bodies of Father and Son.

Port Huron, Mich., Dec. 12.— The prosecuting attorney of Sanilac county announced that an investigation of the deaths of John Wsley Sparling and his son Cyril is to start soon. Both bodies, he said, are to be exhumed. The bodies of the other Sparling youths, Peter and Albert, were exhumed some time ago and chemical analyses showed the presence of arsenic in each viscera.

Coroner's juries returned verdicts of death by poisoning which resulted in the arrests of Dr. Robert A. MacGregor, the family physician, and Miss Margaret Gibbs, a nurse. The former is charged with murder and the nurse as an accessory.

MAY SELL LIGHTING PLANT

Romeo Council Puts Proposition Up to Voters.

Romeo, Mich., Dec. 12.—At a regular meeting of the village council the proposition of the Eastern Michigan Edison company to buy the municipal electric lighting plant at $18,000 was accepted, and the same will be voted on by the electors Dec. 27.

The original cost of the plant was $35,000. It has been operated for the past fourteen years at an annual expense for street lights of $3,200. The people demand twenty-four hours service, and it is figured that the cost of operation would be increased under such a plan, and the proposed sale is the result.

A Dainty Christmas Present and an altogether new and novel one.

Present your family with a complete new bathroom equipment. It would be not only a useful and acceptable Christmas present but you owe it to your family to give them the best sanitary equipment the market affords.

A kitchen sink is also a most acceptable present, smooth, white, non-absorbent, and like all the "Standard" goods we use in our work, thoroughly sanitary. It makes a present which combines utility with pleasing appearance and shows the thoughtfulness which alone makes a present valued. Ask for catalogues of baths and sinks.

Seven Months of Artificial Light In the Home

Sight is one of the most precious possessions of men, women and CHILDREN.

During seven months of the year, most of the close application of eyesight in your home is by artificial light.

Is the artificial light in your home good or bad?

Before the long evenings come when the family gathers near the LIGHT—look into this matter carefully.

ELECTRIC LIGHT is the best light in the home. It is economical and it is far more convenient than any other form of lighting.

Insurance companies rank electric light the safest.

GIVE FURNITURE

The Most Welcome, The Most Enduring Gift of all

The truly acceptable Christmas present must be of an abiding sort—not merely for Christmas day, but for every day.

Such a gift is a perpetual reminder; suggesting, as long as it lasts, both the giver and the sentiments incident to the giving.

When the wreaths and festoons of holly, and sprigs of mistletoe have been removed, you would have your gift remain "to refresh the memory of the receiver" for many a year.

Therefore we say GIVE FURNITURE.

You'll find Mack & Mack's Store just full to overflowing with the spirit of Christmas. Here are displayed hundreds and hundreds of articles that your friends and family will appreciate, articles that will testify to your good taste and good sense.

We will gladly set aside any article and deliver it during Christmas week. A small deposit is all that is needed. AND YOUR CREDIT IS AS GOOD AS EVER.
